ABOUT ME

I am 20 years old and I am interested in the world of technology. I am a young developer by passion – I build projects that give me the chance to gain experience and grow my skills. I am more of an individualist and I value independence and freedom of expression, but when needed, I can take on the role of a leader and effectively solve problems and conflicts. I like learning new things and I adapt quickly to challenges; I am always ready to expand my knowledge and skills.
